

Altura Contract Expansion

Highlights

- Wholly owned subsidiary, Terra Firma Constructions Pty Ltd (“Terra Firma”) has been awarded an expansion to its existing contract with ASX-listed Altura Mining Limited, increasing the total contract value by approximately $642k to a total of $2.05 million
- Terra Firma’s scope of works for the construction of the Altura Mine Operations Centre and associated works, on its Pilgangoora Lithium Mine in Western Australia, is now due for completion in February 2018
- Demonstrates the diversity and capability of The GO2 People’s Building Division offering
- The $2.05 million contract contrasts with FY17 revenue from the Building Division of $0.75m.

The GO2 People Ltd (The Company) is pleased to announce that its wholly-owned subsidiary, Terra Firma Constructions Pty Ltd, has expanded its contract with ASX-listed Altura Mining Limited (“Altura”; ASX: AJM), increasing the value of the contract by approximately $642K to $2.05 million.

The contract is for the design and construction of Altura’s Mining Operations Centre on its Pilgangoora Lithium Mine in Western Australia. The Pilgangoora site is a world-class hard-rock open pit lithium mine which will be in production in early 2018. In preparation for production, Altura is putting in place the necessary buildings and infrastructure to make the mine fully operational.

Terra Firma began site works in August 2017 under an initial contract to the value of $970,000. The contract expansion announced today, in addition to prior variations, increases the value of this contract to $2.05 million. The additional scope of works relates to the addition of service trenching and associated works to the contract.

The Company’s Building Division generated revenue of $0.75m in FY17 and this contract highlights the growth of the division in line with the Company’s expectations. The Company is aiming to further increase its presence and capability in this sector, in line with its Strategic Plan.

Managing Director of The GO2 People, Billy Ferreira commented: “Our Terra Firma team has been working with Altura for a number of months now and we are delighted to expand our contract with them. The project at Pilgangoora is the perfect demonstration of the diversity of our Building Division’s capability in the remote project space. Our work with Altura provides a great platform to build our presence in the mining sector.”

Chris Streat, Head of Building said: “This contract expansion validates the quality of our offering to Altura which is pleasing. It also continues to contribute positively to meeting the expectations we have for the Building division for FY18.”

The project is expected to be completed in February 2018, with progress payments to be received by Terra Firma throughout the life of the contract.
